The above-mentioned patient is well known for suffering serious persistent asthma which was inherited. She has been experiencing frequent chest tightness, pain or pressure, coughing (especially at night), shortness of breath, wheezing and many other symptoms.

This patient is known for poor medication record especially when found living single. In view of her present ailment, I wish to implore that she be deployed to Lagos State for close monitoring by her family and also for scheduled follow-up visit in the health facility provided for her.

Below are some common enlisted medications for her:
